Dear General Thompson:

Recently, one of your employees [redacted] at the Foreign Science and Technology Center in Charlottesville, VA, chaired a working group that wrote a paper on millimeter wave technology. The paper was produced for the Director of Central Intelligence under the auspices of the DCI's S&T Advisory Panel (STAP). It was an outstanding product and all who have read it have been impressed. The effort by [redacted] was particularly noteworthy in that, not only was the quality extremely high, but it was produced in an extremely short period of time. [redacted] spent many extra hours at the CIA Headquarters working to ensure that the paper was as good as possible. The paper currently is in the publication process and you will receive a copy when it is ready.

Please pass my sincere appreciation to [redacted]. I well know the effort that is required for such a paper and want you to know that I deeply appreciate it. I would also like to thank Col. Tedeschi at FSTC for making [redacted] available. If I or the STAP can help you in the future, please do not hesitate to call.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Chairman
Science and Technology Advisory Panel
